Skunkfunk eyewear is not intended to compel the wearer to take on a certain style, instead it seeks to adapt to the wearer on the street, with imagination and steering clear of all those clone wars out there.

Imaginative options that enable the wearer to create their own style based on the wide range of concepts that Skunkfunk steeped itself in over the years it spent in London and Berlin of the 90's, taking inspiration from the lifestyles of a whole array of real people who, far from following trends, actually make trends follow them.

Skunkfunk products are on sale in over 1000 outlets scattered across four continents. Collections continue to grow season after season, reinventing themselves year after year.

Skunkfunk eyewear offers high standards in quality and style, and is not scared to push the boundaries offering bold and unique ranges year after year. Each frame is hand crafted with care from the finest acetate plastics and skin friendly metals.
